Reflection:

- On the Day 4, I exercised the most and had the highest level of emotion (i.e. I felt really good that day!)
- This week, I wasn't good about tracking my data over the weekend (Fri, Sat) so I had to estimate it today (Sun)
- I want to set up a reminder system to track my data throughout the day so it can be as accurate as possible!

Brittany's Week 1-
Did I meet my goals this week?

Personal Informatics

Week #	Day of the Week	Date	Money into Savings ($)	# Productivity (hours)	Physical Appearance/ Wellness (1	Prayer/Bible Devotion (hours)	Water Consumption (oz)	Sleep Duration (hours)

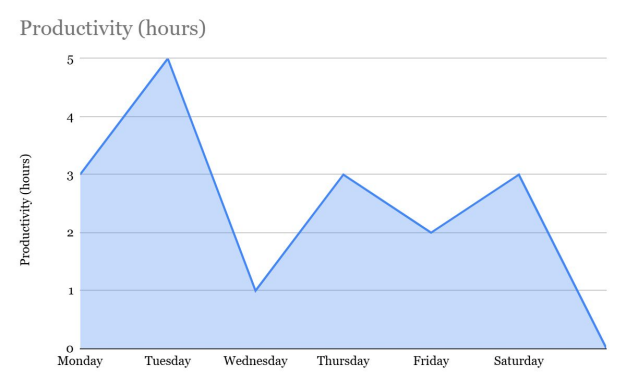
1	Sunday	2/16/25	0	0	2	0	84.5	6

I have learned that I do not have that much time in the the day to be productive outside of sleep and class and that my most productive days seem to be Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. I also need to go to bed in time so that I am able to devote the time I need to to prayer and bible devotion. I am happy with my water consumption which attributed to my physical appearance rating.



Group Reflection

Reflection:

We discussed that we both need to hold each other accountable so that we can accomplish our goals. We will decide a time to me weekly. Glory will try to get to sleep at midnight so she can wake up at 8 am and do her Bible reading. We will both try to set up reminder systems to we can hold ourselves accountable. - Glory

Good job on the water consumption and productivity, Glory! -Brittany

This week started of a bit rocky. After I dropped the ball on my water intake last week the result of that was seen on Monday as I gave myself a physical appearance & wellness rating of 3 to start the week off. I think that also had an effect on my productivity some good news is that I started back reading my bible again but the week got busy and I got lazy at some points so I fell off again. I have been maintaining my sleep for the most part and I think that really allows me to show up during the day. As for the financials, I have still not been paid from my new job so it's still a work in progress.

Group Reflection

From Brittany to Glory:

- Nice to hear that you started up your bible study again!
- I agree that my most productive days are usually Mondays or Tuesdays, it feels good to start the week off strong!
- It’s great that you’ve been getting good sleep, enough water, and have been rating your physical appearance highly overall :)
- I hope you do well with your finances and productivity next week.

From Glory to Brittany:

- Reaching a new exercise milestone is great and I hope you can try to top it in the upcoming weeks.
- It’s nice that on Saturdays for the past 2 weeks you were able to get over 8 hours of sleep after you partied 🥳🥳
- It would be great for you to reach you 30 minute reading goal for the week and strive to make it 30 minutes a day!

Man this week was crazy! I attend the NSBE 50th conference in Chicago, IL from Wednesday to Sunday and had an amazing time but it did take a toll on my sleep and water consumption. I did some conditional formatting on other columns to better visualize my data more. I finally got paid and was able to put money into savings. The inverse result to what I predicted before happen: On that day was my lowest physical appearance/wellness day of the week. My water consumption also suffered as the days of the conference were very fast-paced hectic days. My sleep suffered as well. I predict that I will not be the best functioning in the week to come.

Group Reflection

From Brittany to Glory:

- It’s nice to see you rated your appearance highly this week!
- I’m glad you enjoyed your time in Chicago :)
- I hope you reach more goals next week!

From Glory to Brittany:

- I’m happy that you channeled energy into reading again.
- You hit 4/6 of your goals this week which is great.
- I really like the comments column that you had in week 2. I hope you bring it back for next week.
